Darkness/Black (ערפל araphel, Strong's #6205): There are two words in the Hebrew translated as darkness. The most common is the word hhoshekh ^[str:2822] and means "darkness." The other word is araphel and means something more than just darkness. In Exodus 20:21 we read and Moses approached the araphel where God was. This darkness is a different darkness and may be alluded to in Exodus 10:21 which is the plague of darkness (hhoshekh) that could be felt. We often associate darkness with evil and light with good but, interestingly most times God appears in this araphel such as we saw in Exodus 20:21 but also in 2 Samuel 22:10, 1 Kings 8:12, Job 22:13, Psalm 97:2 and other places.
